ABOUT YOUR GUIDE

Daniela Soleia embraced a nomadic life twelve years ago, connecting with diverse cultures and ecosystems around the world. With a background in hospitality and tourism management, languages, and professional experience, she brings mindful presence and excellence in service.

Over the past eight years, she has been initiated by Indigenous communities, learning within their ancestral schools, ceremonial traditions, and ecological worldviews. With permission to carry the Altar of Water, she walks the world making offerings that honor water as a living system essential to planetary balance.

Daniela is a certified yoga teacher trained in India, as well as a breathwork and ice bath instructor, integrating embodied awareness, nervous system regulation, and respectful relationship with the natural world.

As we walk with the altars of water, fire, and earth, weaving the Golden Planetary Spider Web, we are called to welcome Eagle People into our territory to share the true essence of Colombia.

This pilgrimage invites you to awaken your inner wisdom, begin the process of unlearning limiting beliefs imposed by the system, and embrace the practice of traveling with purpose.

Through meditation, relaxation, ancestral pedagogy and rememberance in the highest mountain range in the world near the sea, we offer a path of transformation, reconnection, and a deepening of your relationship with Mother Earth remembering, as a tribe, our collective purpose as guardians of the land.

WHY THIS PILGRIMAGE ?

Long ago, the lands of the Tayrona held one of the deepest heritage of humanity, a sacred legacy meant to awaken the spirit and connect us to the mysteries of the mother Earth. Before modern times, the Tayrona people flourished in the Sierra Nevada de Santa Marta, Colombia. They built stone cities, sacred paths, and agricultural terraces that harmonized with mountains, rivers, and jungle.

Today, as people from different origins, walking in prophecy as Kamunkuabinchi, the new ancient people, walk these lands together, we remember the ancient ways. Guided by the sacred spirit of water, we relearn how to live in balance with Mother Nature once again.
